SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE NEW YORK HERALD. Washington, August 23—11 P. M.
The opponents of the River and Harbor bill declare their intention of talking against the measure till the end of the sersion, if necessary to defeat it; but, even should it pass the Senate on many amendments have been piled on, that its chances of passing the House will be scarcely among the possibilities.

THIRTY SECOND CONGRESS. FIRST SESSION.

Senate. Washington, August 23, 1952.

THE LOBOS ISLANDS. The Chair presented a message from the President communicating the correspondence relative to the Lobes Islands Referred, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Cooren desired to present to Congress a copy of an engraving of Washington by a Philadelphia artist, but, after some consideration, deferred it till some future occasion.

Mr. Hunter moved to take up the Civil and Diplomatic bill. Agreed to.

The amendment pending was that moved by Mr. Badger, apprepriating $13,000 for the removal of Long Bridge over the Potomac.

The debate was renewed, the question involved being whether a new bridge ought not to be constructed, on a new site.

The smendment after a debate, was rejected.

An amendment for the repair of the bridge was also

An amendment for the repair of the pringe was also rejected.

The proposition for an increase of the salaries of clerks who now receive $1.200 or less a year 20 per cent, was amended; increasing those between $1.200 and $2.000, 10 per cent; and those now receiving over $2.000, an increase of 5 per cent.

The bill was then postponed, and the body took up

The airea and harmon shal.

The amendment pending was me appropriating $150,000 for the purchase of stag bests, dredging machines, &c. This was, after further debats, agreed to, by—Yeas, 36: nays, 10.

Mr. Douchas safered into an elaborate speech in support of the amendment pointing out, since Ir89, numerous cases where Congress has given its assent to States for particular improvements to levy tonnage duties. He considered that this system would soon become general, and instead of the occasional and almost ineffectual appropriations made by Congress for such improvements, there would be a permanent fund always raising for that purpose. The nine States on the Mississippl could each choose a commissioner, and the nine would constitute a board who could administer the funds so raised, and apply it most profitably to the objects contamplated. The provent would not militable that the introduced provides who had a practical acquisitions for River and Harbor bills would be unnecessary. No River and Harbor bill had yet passed which the provides of the mark that have been an entired to be a ladd over. There was one objection in found appropriations for River and harbor bill had yet passed without airsoned in

The CHAIR asked if the Senator from Connecticut

The CHAIR neked if the Senator from Connectacus stelded the floor?

Mr. Shirth said he did not.

The CHAIR—The Senator from Illinois is out of order.

Mr. DOUGLAI—The Senator has stated what is false.

CHEST—O'Order, order."

The GHAIR said the Senator from Illinois was out of order. It was out of order to say that a matemant made by the Senator was false.

Mr. DOUGLAS asked if, when one "enator made a misstatement, and he rose courteously to set himself right, and the Senator persisted in stating what was not true, what was he to do?

The Chair said it was his duty to take his seat until the Senator consented to give way, or had concluded his speech.

Mr Smirn resumed, and entered into an examination of the details of the working of the new system. He saked how Kentucky and Missouri were to collect dutie-con vessels passing down the river between them? Were they to have cutters or were they to erect forts to compete rescele to come to? He would like to see the Senator as commander in chief at such a place, for the Semiorsome time slipe, was endeavoris, to become commander in chief but was tipped up at halthours. He said he was somewhat anticipated by the Sanator from Michigan, who was a Senator who knew what he was about, which was not the case with all Senators. The whole of these to fine age duties would be laid on the neeks of the farmers of the West. The Senator from Illinois, he desired the people of the West to know, had proposed a schung, carrying the heavy hand of unprecedented taxation upon the pre-emptioners and the cabin boys of the West, North and Storthwest. He would also suggest to the Senator to study the laws of Freedential nonlinations less and the laws of trade mue. The Senator scheme, while it visited the northwestern farmers and log cabinmen, relieved the millionsize of the New York and Atiantic cities from the taxation of which they now bore so great a part. These cities countributed the greater part of the revenues of the country, and under the hill before the Senato, the appropriations were made out of the national revenues. He showed that Illine's had but two harbers whose limits would derive, perbases much benefit from this proposal. He examines the River and Harbor bill vetoed by Pracident Polk and the one rejected at the last session, and showed that they were mainly for the benefit of the West. The domecratic party were responsible for the defeat of the bill.

Mr. Deucalas said that so far as the Senator's threat of defeating him before his people was concerned, it caused him little fear. He had before him a copy of the secret circular sent by that Senator, in 1848, to the people of Iradiana, telling them that unless they vosed in a particular sent by that Senator, in 1848, to the people of Iradiana, telling them that unless they vosed in a particular sent of the seator shows the secret or the sentor send out his circular, let him send out his speech of the day, and let the people of Iradian, telling them that unless they vosed in a particular workin

WASHINGTON, August 23, 1852, PROTECTION TO PASSENGERS ON BOARD OF STRAMBOATS. The House took up the Senate bill for the better security of the lives of passengers on boats propelled in whole or in part by steam.

Mr. CLINGMAN said the bill covered fifty five pages, and in his opinion could not be disposed of during this session; besides it would occupy the morning hour to the exclusion of other business. He thought, therefore, it would be better to postpone its consideration until the second Monday in December next.

Mr. Sermoun, (dem.) of N. Y., called attention to the fact, that the bill, so far as the western waters generally were concerned, provides that the act shall not take em until the 1st of January, 1854. The object of this is, tha were concerned, provides that the act shall not take effectuntil the 1st of January, 1854. The object of this is, that the people of the western country, who desire the bill, may have an opportunity of adapting their beats to it. In other parts of the United States it is to go into operation on the 1st of March beat. This will afford ample time for any necessary modification of the law.
